
Guangde Zhou

P: (626) 838-9707

E: zgd136@gmail.com

With over eight years of experience, I am a dedicated and proactive account manager. Recently completed the Google Data Analytics Professional Certificate. As Entry-level data analytics specialist, trying to transition from account manager and seeking a full-time role in the field of data analytics with tools like Python, R, SQL, and Tableau.

Experience

1Thing.org / Marketing Researcher, Data Analyst

Dec 2021 - Present, Remote

By utilizing my SEO expertise and leveraging tools like Google Analytics. I can significantly increase exposure and drive more traffic to 1Thing.org.

Profuse Solution / Account Manager

Dec 2013 - Present, Los Angeles

Build and maintain positive relationships with C-level clients by effectively resolving their problems. Using script language, assist in the completion of order processing automation and sales data analytic. Successfully attained sales figures of no less than 120,000 USD annually.

Education

Google / Data Analytics Professional Certificate

April 2022, Online

I completed a six-month Google Career Certificate program, gaining expertise in data analytics, including data cleansing, visualization, project management, and reporting insights from complex data sets. I also acquired fluency in programming languages and a thorough understanding of database management systems.

California State University, Los Angeles / Computer Information System

Design and organize to collect, process, store, secure and distribute system information. To setup and manage tasks, people, structure and technology.

Language

Cantonese, Mandarin and English